Market Challenge

Fuel buyers need to verify that they pay the lowest price possible. However, checking daily rack prices can be costly and outside the expense budget of many small businesses who instead place full trust in suppliers. And while pricing data is available from many sources, most require expensive subscriptions that supply more information than buyers really need.

How We Help

The OPIS CostPlus Validator is an online, on-demand way to audit fuel purchases one price at a time, whatever their frequency. Pull rack or refined spot prices whenever you need them and pay only for the data you need.

Benefits

- Pinpoint the price you need quickly, in just a few clicks
- Select the exact parameters of your price, including date, location, product, grade, benchmark and supplier
- Pull as few or as many prices at each rack for one low daily rate: $15/rack query; $99/spot query
- Save time and money while boosting confidence in your fuel purchases
